Welcome to the second issue of S.T.F.A. Lee Kam Primary Schools Expressions magazine for the 2017-2018 school year. We hope you enjoy reading these pieces of creative writing by our P.5 and P.6 Young Writers.

Imagine what would happen if you shrunk to the size of a pea or the people and places you might encounter as a $10-dollar bill. Read some emails from outer space, some legends about a long, long time ago and some stories about the Easter Bunny's helpers.

Easter Helpers

Alice's First Day of Work By Kelly Kwok (6C)

It was Alice's first day of work on Easter Island. Alice is a springling. A springling looks like a fairy. The springlings help the Easter Bunny to do work. Alice was a girl who had wings and a pair of bunny ears.

She was very excited. In the morning, when she woke up, she ran around her bedroom and shouted, "Yeah! I can go to Easter Island to work!" Her job was an egg hider. An egg hider needed to hide eggs and let the children find the eggs. She thought, "I can fly in the Easter park and hide the eggs."

When Alice arrived on Easter Island, she saw a big, colourful house. The house was full of springlings, and they were working hard. A springling came out and said, "Nice to meet you, Alice! I am Annie. Mrs. Egg Hide wants to see you. She is our boss. I will take you to see her."

Alice followed Annie to Mrs. Egg Hide's

Springling Venus

By Natalie Mok (5A)

In the morning, the springling Venus felt happy and excited because she had a job to do for the first time. A springling is a rabbit. The springlings' jobs are to help the Easter Kingdom. But, Venus couldn't believe that she needed to get up so early in the morning. She dressed like a princess, and she ate breakfast. She had so many questions to ask about the job. She thought, "Is it boring? Is it fun? Or is it hard to do? Will I make many friends and..." So many questions.

She went to the Easter Kingdom. Venus said, "It is so amazing!" The kingdom was full of chocolate and eggs. They could always eat them.

Venus's job was painting Easter eggs. When it was Venus's turn to paint, she felt happy. She enjoyed it because she thought painting was fun. But they needed to be serious because they needed to report to the boss, Miss White. Miss White would lock them in the toilet for five hours if they did something wrong.

Suddenly, a big giant Easter monster came. It came from the sea. It looked like a chocolate fountain. It ate all the Easter eggs, but sadly, it also ate the Easter egg paint because the paint had an Easter egg smell. Miss White felt surprised and scared. She called Venus to catch the monster. Venus tried to give some broken eggs to the monster to eat. The monster became ill and fell down. Then, Venus finally caught it! Venus brought the monster to another world where there were so many eggs to eat. The monster appreciated Venus and they became good friends.

The boss said, "Thank you. You have helped me, so I will give you a present. It is the most beautiful uniform I have. You need to keep it safe."

Venus said, "Thank you, I will keep it well and I will do my work perfectly."

At last, Venus finished painting the eggs, and the boss said, "They are gorgeous! They are beautiful and pretty!" The boss also gave Venus a room to live in. Venus was very happy.

room. Alice went in. Mrs. Hide was a woman dressed in a colourful dress. There was something special about her. She was not a springling, but a fairy.

Mrs. Hide said, "Good morning, Miss Alice. We welcome you to join us. I will give you a job to do. It is to put the eggs into the basket. You must be careful to put the eggs into the basket because they are very important. If children don't get the eggs, they will not believe in the Easter Bunny. Do you understand?"

Alice answered, "Yes." She felt that she had a very important job. She was so proud of herself.

Alice went to Egg Room 5. She saw many springlings were working hard, including Annie and her workmates, Lily, Mimi, Emma and Peter. She put the eggs into the baskets carefully. However, she broke the eggs because she fell on the floor. All the eggs were broken. She thought, "I broke the eggs. The children can't have any Easter egg hunts. It is my fault." She was very disappointed with herself. She sat on the floor and cried.

Other springlings said, "Alice, do not be sad. Today is your first time at work. We can put more eggs into the basket again and hide them." They put the eggs into the baskets and hid them in the Easter park. Alice saw the children looking for the eggs and how they smiled happily. She was very happy too. She couldn't wait for next Easter.

Alice thought, "I should not break the eggs again!"

Springling Natalie

By Venus Leung (5A)

It was the first day of work for Natalie, the springling. She was good at decorating things, so the bunnies had given her a letter to invite her to be a basket decorator to help the Easter bunnies. When Natalie read the letter, she was extra excited.

On the first day, the little bunnies told her how to do this job. Natalie enjoyed and loved this job very much. All of a sudden, she took the stickers out very hard and the stickers ripped. All the Easter bunnies were angry at her. Natalie felt very sorry and sad.

At last, Natalie had an idea. She used coloured paper to cut different shapes out and used glue to stick them on the basket. The mother rabbit used the basket to put the Easter eggs in. The children wanted the basket, so the bunnies gave it to them. The children were happy.

The bunnies thought Natalie was clever and smart, so the bunnies secretly made nice and beautiful Easter eggs for her! When Natalie finished her job, she received a box from the little bunnies. She was very happy and she liked it very much. When she opened the box, there was a wonderful and colourful Easter egg. Natalie and the bunnies became friends forever after.

Getting Ready for Easter

By Kenneth Law (5D)

Fred woke up at 12 o'clock and met his boss, the Easter Bunny. Easter Bunny gave Fred speed boots and a basket of Easter eggs.

First, Fred hid an egg under a tree, then an egg under a house staircase, and then an egg between two houses. He worked very hard and thought, "Where could I hide more eggs?"

In the morning, all the children came out of their beds and tried to find the Easter eggs, but none of them could find a single Easter egg. The Easter Bunny was using his magic to fly and watch the children. The Easter Bunny thought that Fred was good at hiding stuff.

When the Easter Bunny flew back home to Easter Island, he found that a lot of Easter eggs were left behind on Easter Island. Easter Bunny felt very angry that Fred hadn't hidden all the Easter eggs.

Meanwhile, Fred was going home happily. He was thinking, "Won't the boss feel happy once he finds out I did a great job? Children can't find eggs on Easter Island!"

An Egg Painter

By Arina Lee (5E)

One day, Victoria became an egg painter for the children at Easter. She was excited because it was her first day of work. She was a rabbit fairy. She had long ears, a pair of wings, big eyes, a small nose, and she was small.

That morning, Victoria woke up early. After breakfast, she went to Gigi the boss's room. Gigi gave Victoria a uniform. It was a dress, and there was a pocket to put paintbrushes in. There was also a colourful egg on the bottom of the dress. Victoria was happy. She hoped she could paint some beautiful eggs.

"Where can I find the eggs?" Victoria asked the bunnies.

"You can find them in the room that's next to the staff room," said Ann, one of the bunnies that sent eggs to the children.

"Thank you," said Victoria.

Next, she changed her clothes and started to work. First, she took out the paints. Then, she mixed the paints with water. After that, she could start painting. The egg was big, and she was small. She thought it was hard because she didn't have a ladder to paint the top of the egg, but still she tried and tried to paint the top of the egg. Suddenly, she fell down and the paint splashed onto the egg. Victoria was in pain because she hurt her leg. She was shocked because the egg was very, very ugly. All the paint had mixed together on the egg.

Then, Gigi came in and saw the egg was dirty and ugly. She was very angry. "What did you do? This is your first day of work!" shouted Gigi. So, she punished Victoria and asked her to clean the floor and paint the egg again. The bunnies were angry too because they needed some painted eggs to send to the children. Gigi and the bunnies left. Victoria felt sad.

Luckily, Ann helped Victoria to clean the floor and paint the eggs. They became best friends. Finally, Gigi thought they were helpful. She felt happy, so she gave all the helpers a colourful Easter egg.

Ivan's Gift

By Angus Mak (5A)

Ivan was a bunny. He felt excited because he had a new job on Easter Island. He bought two new uniforms to prepare for it. When Ivan arrived on Easter Island, he saw that its shape looked like a bunny.

Three minutes later, Ivan went to the 16th floor - the Egg Hider Department. He felt a bit excited because this was his first time to help hide the eggs. He walked to the last office. It was his boss Rabbit Tom's office. Rabbit Tom told Ivan what he needed to do. He needed to hide the eggs for Easter. Then, Ivan went out of Tom's office. He felt so good.

When he arrived at Easter Island's field, it was 12 o'clock. He carried five baskets of coloured eggs to the field. He hid the eggs happily. He hid the baskets in the field. He thought he did a good job. He finished at 3:30.

When Ivan was on his way back to the office, he thought that he had lost one basket of eggs! He was so frightened. He told Rabbit Tom immediately. Rabbit Tom said angrily, "Why did you lose the basket of eggs? You must find it today or I will fire you!"

Ivan heard this and felt scared. He went to look for the basket. When it was six o'clock, he found the basket in his bag. He felt so happy. He went to the field and hid that basket of eggs. Ivan learned to be careful.

Honey, I've Shrunk Myself!

A Shrunk Adventure

By Ian Siu (5B)

One day, I woke up and I found that my body had shrunk to the size of a pea. My pyjamas were lying beside me, and I found myself in a restaurant.

I was standing on a royal and beautiful mat. It was comfortable and safe. The mat was to make sure old people did not slip on the floor, but I'm not an old man! I saw tall tables and chairs like mountains and feet arriving into the restaurant. How scary! I would maybe get squashed up! So, I ran and ran until I got to the chef's kitchen.

I heard the sound of frying eggs and soaking beans. The sounds were like bombs on a battlefield. Although the sounds were about to burst my eardrums, the food smelled really good, especially the corn soup and hot chocolate.

I started to wander further into the kitchen. I saw a giant (a chef) holding a bowl of ham macaroni, which is my favourite food! "But I may get squashed by his foot!" I thought as I quickly rushed away. The whole kitchen was like a forest surrounded by mountains.

After a minute of walking, I started to feel the heat, so I rushed out of the kitchen door. I hadn't eaten breakfast, so I rock-climbed up onto a table where a little girl was sitting. She had ordered an omelette with ham, macaroni with cheese, and cold lemon tea. I licked my lips and started to walk on her plate when she was not looking. I used my hands to eat small crunches of omelette. It tasted like my mom's delicious omelette too!

Within a minute, I was already full, so I dashed to the large cup of lemon tea. I dived into the cup and had a cool swim. After that, I slurped some of the lemon tea and was about to leave.

The little girl spotted me and shouted in a loud voice, "This tiny human ate my food!" She squashed me with her hand! I was about to die when I woke up. Phew! It was only a scary dream.

Tiny World

By Melissa Man (6B)

I opened my eyes. I didn't know where I was because things around me had become unusual - they were very huge! I looked around, and then I noticed that this was the supermarket I always go to.

People and trolleys were moving around. Tasty food was sizzling for people to try. Candies, chocolate, and soft drinks were lined up in order on the shelves. Shopkeepers were as busy as bees. Everything seemed normal, but was just too huge. I realised I was tiny! It was really dangerous to be so tiny. I was afraid that I would be knocked down by a trolley.

I was a bit hungry. Fortunately, there were food stalls preparing food. I climbed up onto the shelf and jumped to a stall. It was exhausting. I wanted to have a cookie, so I walked near it. The biscuits became bigger and bigger. I couldn't pick one up because it was too huge. I ate some cookie chips instead.

Suddenly, I heard some footsteps. I ran away quickly because I didn't want anyone to find out where I was. It was quite fun to be "invisible". It was easy to escape with a light, tiny body. I hid behind the cans of soup because they were really huge to me.

Later, I walked near the fridge. It was very cold. It seemed like I was in the North Pole. I ran away quickly because it was too cold. I ran around the market and became tired. I took a nap near the seasoning shelf because not many people go there.

When I woke up, it was time for school! It was just a dream that I travelled around the supermarket!

Tiny Tiny Tiny Tiny Tiny Season

By Season Wu (6E)

When I woke up and opened my eyes, I saw an amazing view! I woke up in the noisy market, but I was as small as an ant. The people around me looked gigantic! Even the food looked gigantic! I saw “giants” bargaining and chatting loudly. I saw puddles on the floor which looked like swimming pools at my size. I also saw a fish that fell down from a table, and it almost hit me!

At first, I didn't believe it, but after I squeezed my face hard, I knew it was real. Just thinking of the insects that would look like the size of a cow made me shiver horrifically.

I sneaked onto the tables where the food was placed and touched the food. It felt as cold as ice, and then I tasted it. It tasted fresh, of course. I smelled a rotten smell in the rubbish bin, which I could tell was rotten pork. Wait, what was that tapping sound I was hearing? It was getting louder and louder. Oh my, what was that? Cockroach legs?????!!

Then, a giant cockroach appeared out of nowhere, chasing me! Was this the feeling of a mouse getting chased by my pet cat? While it was chasing me, I heard it yelling, “GET AWAY FROM THIS MARKET!!! THE FOOD IS ALL MINE!!!!” So, I raced towards the exit and got out of the market.

I didn't think I would enjoy my new horrific insect-sized life. I only had one thing in my mind now, and it was to get back to normal size. So, I ran to a very, very, very evil, very secret laboratory and found Doctor Evil. I told him to turn me back to normal size, and he started talking. “If you want me to turn you to normal size, you will have to give me your soul and be a slave for the rest of your life, blah blah blah...”

While he was babbling nonsense, I pushed a button that said: “Normal Size” and turned myself back into a normal size! That left Doctor Evil speechless, and he ran away in tears.

A Restaurant

By Clement Chu (6C)

Today, I went to a restaurant. This restaurant was wonderful. When I went in the restaurant, the lights were a bit bright. Some people were chatting happily and there was a small bar next to the cashier. When the food arrived, some of it was sweet and some of it was salty. My steak was juicy and delicious. When I was eating, I heard some silverware crashing and tapping. The bartender was shaking drinks and serving beer. After eating all my food, I ordered an ice cream. The ice cream was soft like a pillow and the cone was as crunchy as chips. It was so delicious. It was a memorable experience and I would like to go there again in the future.

Starbucks

By Oistin Chan (6E)

In Starbucks, I can see people making drinks and food. I can see many people drinking coffee at their tables. The shop is very small, so many people are waiting. Also, I can see a picture of a woman who is green and brown and has very long hair. She symbolizes the brand name “Starbucks”.

There are many people in Starbucks because it is nearly afternoon now. People are wearing colourful t-shirts. They are making drinks and taking them to the people. People are talking and laughing.

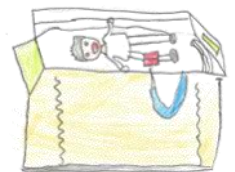

I buy a chocolate coffee. The staff starts to make the chocolate coffee. Then, I can hear the bubble sounds from the coffee machine. It sounds like “Zzzzzzzzzz!” It reminds me of my mum making me chocolate when I was seven years old.

After the staff makes the coffee, he comes and puts it on my table. It is warm. The seats are comfortable. The air-con is not cold. I take a sip of my drink. It is sweet, yummy and delicious. It is the most delicious coffee I have ever had. I like Starbucks because the drinks are yummy and tasty.

Dear Leon,

Hello, I am Alfred, the astronaut. I am riding on the spaceship back to the Earth from a new planet. I was in space because I was working there. I have a surprise for you. When I was travelling on my Super Spaceship, I saw a new planet. It is called “Free Planet”. Its shape looks like the Earth. It is blue and green and made of rocks and air.

You can ride my spaceship there and visit when you are free. I think it may be fun. We can have a trip there. I will come back to the Earth in two days. Please wait for me.

Your friend,
Alfred

Dear Leon,

Hello! How are you now? Are you fine? I am riding the Super Spaceship back to Hong Kong. Last time when I was writing the email to you, I forgot to tell you that I met some new friends on the “Free Planet”.

I felt very surprised when I saw the aliens. They are cute and kind. They look like people, but they just have one eye. At first, I felt very scared because they thought that I was a bad guy, so they used fire and lightning to attack me, but I tried to talk to them and I could.

They took me to walk around their place. Their home is a big town. There are over one hundred buildings. I could see a lot of aliens.

They look just like the first ones I saw. There are some robots to help them. They are kind and cute too.

Your friend,

Dear Space Boss,

Hi! How are you? Now I am on the planet, Mickey Planet. The mice that live here are terrible. They are tall and huge. They have two sparkling red eyes and a tiny black nose. They also have two big ears. There are thousands of them. They don't like eating cheese. They all like eating fish! Oh no! They also eat mice! That's horrible!

However, they are high-tech mice. They know how to use magic. They know how to use magic to fly and walk on the sea. They can do the impossible.

They also have a king on their planet. He can change the weather of the planet because he has magic that can change the weather. Let's steal their magic book to learn about it.

Dear Space Boss,

Hello! I have found a new planet, Mickey Planet. The shape of that planet is like Mickey Mouse's head. It is very huge. It is 5000 km from our Earth. I saw many mice living on it. I think they are all rich because their planet is made of gold and glass. If we plunder that planet, we will be the richest in space.

Nevertheless, there is one problem: the weather. The weather is very cold and there are always storms and typhoons! Unless we have some ideas to stop the bad weather, we can't live there.

Next time, I will tell you about what's on the planet, but now I need to go to sleep. Thanks for reading.

Dear Space Boss,

Ha Ha! We caught your friend, Jerry! We are the mice on Mickey Planet.

That day, Jerry, the astronaut flew onto our planet. He flew into the king's castle. Our king was as angry as a bear because Jerry tried to make the king happy, but he was not successful. The king caught Jerry and put him into jail. We found something hard and round like a ball in his astronaut clothes. Jerry said it is called a "marble". It is made of glass. We have never seen marbles before, so we think we can use marbles to build houses.

Now Jerry needs to stay in jail until the king is happy. If you do not want Jerry to stay too long, please give us ten million marbles. Then, we will release Jerry.

Just So Stories

How the Chameleon Got Sticky Feet

By Tiffany Chan (6C)

A long, long time ago, the chameleon lived in the trees. He ate leaves. He had four short legs and a short tail.

One day, when he was eating tasty, fresh and yummy leaves, a team of ants came. They picked up all the leaves of the tree. They saw that the chameleon was eating the leaves, so the ant team was angry.

They had thirty ants on their team. The ant leader said, "Hey, disgusting thing, go away or else you will..."

All the ants yelled, "Die!" The chameleon was scared, so his skin became a green colour.

The leader of the ants was angry, so he pushed the chameleon out of the tree. The team of ants laughed loudly and shouted, "Don't come back anymore. Hahaha!"

The chameleon was sad, and he cried and cried. He became blue. He yelled to the ants, "I will defeat you in three years!" All the ants laughed.

Then, the chameleon built a house. He trained himself every day. He learned how to make his feet sticky so that he could stick to the tree and not fall down.

Three years later, he went up the tree. He changed his colour to brown with a bit of green. He made himself like a leaf. The ants only saw leaves. They tried to grab them. Suddenly, they all fell out of the tree, except for the leader of the ants, because the chameleon pushed them off.

The leader of the ants said, "You are quite fabulous. You made all the ants fall. Okay fine, I have lost."

The chameleon won, so he ate all the ants, and now, all chameleons have sticky feet.

How the Bunny Got Long Ears

By Bernice Yeung (5D)

Once upon a time, there was a baby bunny who had short ears. He always thought, "I want to have long ears. Then I can hear things that are far away." He thought the wisest animal in the world could help him. Then, he started on his way to find the wisest animal.

First, he saw his best friend, Parrot. He asked, "Parrot, do you know who the wisest animal in the world is?"

Parrot replied, "No, I don't. But Mrs. Butterfly knows. Go and find her!"

"Thanks!" Bunny said.

He found Mrs. Butterfly in the magic forest. He asked, "Mrs. Butterfly, where have you been? I have been looking for you everywhere!"

Mrs. Butterfly answered, "Sorry, I have been to the central cave to find the wisest ones."

"The wisest ones? Who are the wisest ones?" Bunny asked excitedly.

"Bear and Tiger! They are nice and kind! I have to go. See you next time! Bye." Mrs. Butterfly went away.

Bunny went to the central cave. He saw two animals doing yoga. He asked peacefully, "Wisest animals, can you help me? Can you make my ears longer?"

"Of course, I can. I mean... we can!" Bear said.

Then, Bear held Bunny's ears and Tiger held Bunny's feet. They pulled Bunny. It was very painful. After an hour, Bear and Tiger let him down. Bunny's ears had become long! Bunny felt surprised. He had long ears! He thanked the wisest animals and went home to his family to show them his long ears.

How the Turtle Got His Shell

By Aggie Chow (5A)

Once upon a time, turtles were the weakest animals in the Natalie Forest because they were slow, so they were always in danger.

One of them, the smallest turtle, was brave. He went to the Amazon Forest to find something that could keep his family safe. He walked and walked. He was so tired. He sat down and had a rest. He looked up. A rabbit with a green safety cap was working in a tree. He was building a house. "Oops... ss..." he murmured. The rabbit's AA glue was pouring onto the turtle. It made his back sticky! Then, the rabbit lost his balance and his green safety cap fell, getting stuck on the turtle's back! It was heavy.

The sky was dark. The turtle decided to sleep there for the night. When he woke up, he saw everyone was playing tricks on others. He realised it was April Fools' Day! Someone was drawing some squares on his back. He was so unlucky!

He went back and every turtle said, "You're not unlucky, because now you can hide inside your new shell!" And that is why turtles have shells now!

A Ten Dollar Bill's Adventure

By Amy Chow (6D)

I was a brand new Ten Dollar Bill. I lived in a huge bank with my friend, Twenty Dollar Bill, and my relative, Ten Dollar Coin. I was born in this bank, like a lot of other money. My friend and I always crept out of our box and ran around the bank when it was night time. We liked to play hide-and-seek, and I hid in the security guard's pocket. My friend could never find me! I felt very excited when I played in the bank.

However, one day, I was sleeping in my box until I heard a bang. I was surprised. I had never heard this sound before. Soon, I found out a thief had actually broken into the bank. Everyone was scared. I heard big footsteps and suddenly, someone rudely put me inside a bag. I was shocked. I saw that One Thousand Dollar Bill and One Hundred Dollar Bill were in there too.

My head got hit. The bag's sides were very rough and uncomfortable. The thief ran away with the bag. I could hear some noises of a car. But then, I was out of the bag. The thief was driving too fast and I flew out of the window.

I found that I was in the middle of a crowded street, and the thief was gone. There were many people walking on the street, but they didn't see me. I called for help, but no one answered. I felt helpless.

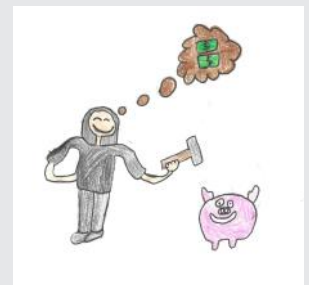

I stayed on the street for nearly two hours. In these two hours, there was a cat that wanted to lick me. Luckily, a lovely woman found me on the ground and put me inside her wallet. The woman went to the bank and saved money, including me. I was back to the bank where I was born. I saw my friend, Twenty Dollar Bill, and my relative, Ten Dollar Coin, too! They were happy and said that they had thought I would be missing forever. I was very delighted.

A Thief in My Home

By Hebe Chan (5E)

I am a ten dollar bill. Once upon a time, I lived in a piggy bank. It was pink inside. On the outside, there was a stunning pig face. I had lots of friends. They were twenty dollars, fifty dollars and five dollars. We always played together. We played hide-and-seek when our host was not at home.

One day, my host went out and forgot to close the door. So, two thieves came in. One was a tall and thin woman. The other was a man in a grey shirt and pants. The woman looked scary. We were very scared and didn't know what to do. We saw the thieves looking for a hammer. We didn't know why, but that made us afraid.

Suddenly, our home was broken. We were blown everywhere by the wind. Some of us hid in the sofa and some of us hid in the cabinet. I didn't know how to run, so I was caught by the thieves. I was shaking because I felt fearful.

Luckily, my host realised he forgot to close the door and went back home. He watched the thieves and called the police at once. The police caught the thieves. At last, my host put me and my friends into a clip. I finally felt peaceful.
